Illustrator. Animator

Hi! I'm Ruby, a London based Animator and Illustrator and animation degree graduate (first class honours) seeking opportunities to continue to develop my skills, either through permanent placement or internship, working with innovative, creative teams either in London or elsewhere (I have UK and US work permits).

I am passionate about combining my technical skills, individualistic creative vision and personal determination to produce excellence in art and animation with a specialization in pre-production design. I have strong drawing skills matched by digital prowess developed over 13 years and have created short films, involving festival selections and online success. I also have experience as a freelance contractor and commission creator.
